WASHINGTON LETTER.

WASHINGTON, May 10, 1886.

Mr. Editor: The attempt on the part of the workmen to secure the adoption of the eight hour rule in Washington has resulted in an almost complete prostration of the building interests. A week has passed since the general lock-out was declared, and yet with the exception of a few instances in which persons having unfinished buildings under construction have conceded the eight hours demanded, both sides are still firm in their determination to maintain their positions. Although hundreds of workmen are idle, and the prospect of a final settlement indefinite and uncertain, still the best of order prevails and no breach of the peace anticipated. The laboring men in Washington are in fact quiet and law-abiding citizens, and are outspoken in their condemnation of acts of violence, such as have occurred in Chicago and other cities during the past week. The building of an unusually number of houses during the present season had been contemplated, and it is hoped that the present difficulties may be settled and building resumed before the season is far advanced.

Now that the bill providing for the new library building has become a law, the committee entrusted with the duty of selecting a site meet with a serious hindrance, owing to the excessive value set by the owners upon their property. The amount appropriated by the bill is only $550,000, which it was thought would be amply sufficient to purchase either of the squares east of the Capitol. Some of the owners ask three or four times as much as the assessed valuation of their property. Justice Field, of the Supreme Court, who owns a house upon one of the squares, asks the Government to pay him the modest sum of $90,860 for his property, while one of his neighbors, Mrs. General McKee Dun wants $78,000 for her house. The aggregate asked for the square north of East Capitol Street is $803,363, and for the square south $765,044. The committee has decided to ask the owners of the property on the south side to reduce their estimates an average of one third, which will bring the aggregate within the limit of the appropriation. Should this be refused, necessary legal steps will at once be taken to secure the condemnation and appraisal of the property.

Notwithstanding the efforts of its opponents to secure a reconsideration, the River and Harbor bill, which takes over $15,000,000 from the treasury, passed the House on Thursday. Eighty-five members voted in favor of Mr. Holman's resolution to have the bill sent back to the committee with instructions to cut down the items until the aggregate should not exceed $8,000,000, and 157 declared themselves opposed to such a check to the sums to be distributed to their respective districts.

The Mexican pension bill is likely to undergo some material changes in the Senate. Senator Logan has introduced an amendment increasing the rate for total helplessness to $72 a month.

The Senate Committee on the District of Columbia is engaged in examining the charges of offensive partisanship filed by Albany Republicans against Matthews, the colored Recorder of Deeds, for the District. It is thought that this investigation will not prevent, though it will of course delay his confirmation, and will continue Fred Douglass in office for some time to come, as his resignation is to take effect on the confirmation of his successor.

The warm and pleasant weather has had effect of reminding Congressmen that the season is far advanced, and that it will be necessary to expedite business in order to reach an adjournment before the summer has passed. Two or three night sessions have been held during the week, and work upon the appropriation bills is being pushed along as fast as possible.

The $800,000 mail subsidy bill has passed the Senate by a much larger majority than its friends had expected. The chances of securing its passage in the House is considered extremely doubtful, and the enemies of the scheme declare that they will be as much surprised if they are in a minority in the House of Representatives as its friends would have been had they failed to carry it through. Washington has long been the recognized matrimonial Mecca of America, and the present season has witnessed no decrease in the bridal pairs who seek to seclude themselves in the sylvan shades of the National Capital. The numerous public buildings, parks and grounds affords rare advantages to tourists of this character, and the White House for some unaccountable reason, appears to be just at present particularly attractive to brides.

IN COUNCIL.

The Tax Payers Meet Last Evening.

The Taxpayers Association met at the Court House at 8 o'clock last evening business.

Article 4 of the constitution was amended as follows: "All taxpayers who favor just legislation."

Article 5 was also amended to read: "All persons who pay taxes on real or personal property in Cochise county shall, on application to this association, have their name enrolled as a member of this association."

Messrs. Goodrich and Smith were appointed a committee to call upon the common Council and Board of Equalization of city taxes and call their attention to the law on the subject of city taxes.

Ben. Goodrich, L. W. Blinn and John Montgomery were appointed a committee to ask the insurance companies transacting business in Tombstone for reduced rates.

On motion the convention resolved itself into a committee of the whole to solicit membership.

It was further ordered that a duplicate membership roll be kept at the Occidental hotel, after which the meeting adjourned subject to the call of the chair.

Good Hearted Jack Logan.

A gentleman recently visited the soldier's home in Milwaukee. "I was going among the old boys," he said, "answering questions about their old commanders, etc., when an old Irishman saluted me, and I found out he had been in the Seventh Missouri."

"D'ye you ever see the old boy now?" he inquired.

"Do you mean Logan? Oh, yes, often," answered.

"Well, if ye please sor, wud ye mind tellin' him av the trick I played on 'im at Vicksburg? It was a mane trick, and I'd like to know that he didn't hold it agin me."

"What was the trick, Barney?"

"Well, it was this way, sor. I was divilish thirsty, sor, an' wud I for a drop o' whiskey, so I tuk me canteen an' a scrap av paper an' a stump av a lead pencil an' I goes up to him quite brave like, where he was a standing by one av the navy goons, and I makes me saloot. So I says: 'If ye please, General, I'd be after likin' an order for a piece of paper for a quart av whiskey. I've a powerful wakeness in me stumick. An' he smites a bit, an' he says: 'Write out the order, Barney. An' I writes: Give Barney O'Toole for cash I quart av whiskey for cash, an' he takes and scratches out the for cash an' writes, Charge to John A. Logan. I thanks him and runs off but when I put a hill bechune us I puts an 'S' to the quart an' I make an illegant 4 out av the I an' I gets 3 more canteens and gets four quarts of whiskey charged to John A. Logan. An many's the other fellow played the same trick on the good hearted old man."—Chicago News.

Mr. J. C. Botlin, is now in San Francisco, where he has purchased an immense stock of groceries, which will arrive here in a few days and will be sold at astonishing low prices for cash at the store of H. J. Sadler.

A. T. Jones, of the Fashion livery stable to-day sold all of his horses and rolling stock to Brown & Hare, of the Pioneer stables. This afternoon the purchasers moved the stock, etc. to their stables. It is understood that the building has been leased to John Montgomery of the O. K. stables and corral.

Had the Democrat permitted Judge Benson to edit the sheet this week, as he has for weeks past, it would have contained at least something worth reading. While THE TOMBSTONE believes the Judge wrong on the Chinese question, it must admit that he presents his side of the question in a plausible manner as to deceive.

A Partisan Applicant.

The following unique letter was received a few days ago by the post office department from a citizen of New Mexico. It is given verbatim. It is only proper to say that "old Tom" will not be appointed:

Asst. P. M. General Stevenson: Respected Sir—Old Tom Redford is circulating a paper around town asking to be made postmaster at that place and I have signed it but I don't want it count, and when it comes in please scratch my name of as he is no more fit for postmaster than I am for minister of the holy gospel. Is an awful ruff kues drinks, swares, fites and would belt hell out of me if he knew of this letter. Please burn this and don't give me way, and has no education nor enny manners would whip enny republican in town if he had that offis and I believe woud steal us poor in four years, he is a ritch of the first water and everyone here is frade of him and would put on more airs than a french dancing master and drive enny republican out of town. I rite strong because we have a refined community, for he if a holy terror and you may depend on it. We look to the honorable Postmaster General to save us from a horrid doom.

S. K. Prower, Justice of Peace.

P. S.—Others would sine this but are frade as hell of old Tom.—Albuquerque Journal.

A Singular accident.

Frankfort May 14.—A Blacksmith named Wolf who has a shop on on the hill near the arsenal was accidentally shot under singular circumstances last Saturday afternoon. Two years ago, James Lee chief of police of Frankfort was assassinated at midnight while standing in front of Behr's Hotel. Two or three men who were afterward tried for the crime came out of an alley and shot and killed Lee. A man named Stephen Searee was standing in the doorway near Lee and he drew a pistol in order to fire at the assassins. He did so, one of them fired at him and the bullet struck on the tube of Searee's pistol the lead forcing itself into the aperture and rendering the weapon useless. Shortly after this tragedy Searee was sent to the penitentiary on some charge and was released a few days ago. Saturday he took the pistol to Wolf in order to have the lead removed from the tube and while the blacksmith was endeavoring to do so the weapon was discharged and the bullet lodged in his hip making a bad wound.

Indian Rumors.

There is much fear expressed of the hostiles being largely reinforced from the White Mountain reservation. It is believed by many of the old inhabitants that the movement of the band of hostiles now reported in Sonora, is but a piece of strategy to draw the troops in that direction while others make their way to the reservation for reinforcements and fresh supplies of ammunition.

It is openly predicted that within two weeks a raid will in all probability be made through Southern Arizona between the Whetstones and the Guadalupe canyon or perhaps a little further east. And the Indians will come from the reservation. These predictions are made by cool headed men, citizens who have lived here for more than twenty-five years, and have watched the movements of the Apaches during many of their campaigns. These rumors and predictions are worthy of notice by those living in exposed sections.—Star.

A Circus Company Quarantined.

BROWNSVILLE May 14.—A Mexican circus arrived here on the 2d four days from Tampico. They, were promptly dumped into an old warehouse on a barren sand island by the quarantine authorities and told that they would be kept there twenty days. To-day they complained to their counsels here that they were illly cared for and that having women and children among them they feared serious results from the privations they had to undergo.

Vindictive the Irish.

WASHINGTON D. C. May 14.—Representative Ward of Chicago, sent the following cablegram to-day: Hon. E. D. Grey, Freeman's Journal Dublin Ireland. As the representative in the American congress of the Chicago district where the recent riot took place I desire to say in refutation of the slanderous articles of the certain English newspapers that not a single person of Irish birth or of Irish extraction was with the anarchists who incited, organized, or participated in the assaults. But on the contrary the lives of several brave Irish-Americans were lost in protecting the lives and interests of Chicago's citizens.

A Important Patent Case.

WASHINGTON May 14.—Commissioner of Patents Montgomery to-day rendered an important decision in the Reese versus Thomas patent interference case. The commercial importance of the invention the right to which was at issue lies in the alleged ability to eliminate by its use phosphorus from the metal treated by the Bessemer process. The issue was made under two heads one for the process and the other for the furnace lining which were the subject matter of the two separate applications. In the first the issue was "Deslincizing the molten iron in a converter with a basic (calcareous) lining." That case was decided in favor of Reese May 12 1882.

The present issue was for the furnace lining and was worded as follows "A mixture of lime or highly burnt slurrh lime and petroleum tar or asphaltum adapted for the manufacture of basic linings." Upon this issue the commissioner holds: 1. That Reese was the original and just inventor of the invention in controversy. 2. That he conceived, disclosed, illustrated and perfected his invention as early as the year 1867; that Thomas having taken no testimony could not go back to the date of filing his application which was March 1 1879; that Reese therefore perfected his invention at least ten years before Thomas came with his application. Patent to Reese however is directed to be withheld until the question of the abandonment by Reese of his invention be fore filling application for patent thus making it public property is settled on application.

Valuable stock destroyed.

STANTON Nebraska May 14.—At four o'clock this morning fire was discovered in the main barn of the Stanton Breeding Company fourteen miles south of Stanton. A few of the employees were threatened with suffocation but managed to escape though the animals in the barn could not be saved. Thirty eight head of breeding mares valued at $8,000 and a stallion worth $2000 perished. Including farming implements the barn and also the grain, the loss is about $20,000. The loss is covered by the insurance. The ranch is one of the largest ranches in the west and is principally owned by Marshall Field & Co. Chicago.

Here is Your Help.

Among the arguments used by those who are willing that the Chinese should go but who want them to remain a little longer, is this, "How can we get our washing done?" Any argument on this question is solved by this answer: "Purchase an A. No. 1 LITTLE JOKER WASHING MACHINE." This machine is light and simple, cheap and durable, so simple that a child or a weakly or sickly woman can run it without exertion. It saves time in fact a large family wash can be put out in two hours. It washes clean and does not wear out your clothes. Call and inspect one of the machines at Mrs. Grant who is the agent at the American Lodging House, Toughnut next door to the court house, Tombstone, A. T. 4-12-1f.
